The San Francisco Recreation and Park Department has formally announced the opening of 8 schoolyards and the future opening of 5 gymnasiums as part of the After-School Program.

Recognizing the need for supervised childrens activities during after school hours, the After-School Program Committee selected schoolyard and gymnasium sites based on a survey of neighborhoods which needed recreational services for children. Chairman of the After-School Advisory Board for the Recreation and Park Commission Jeff Mori feels we are indeed fortunate to reinstate a program that was eliminated by Proposition 13. He said, "The Recreation and Park Department and the San Francisco Unified School District are addressing the needs of schoolage children in San Francisco by operating supervised, existing facilities for children during after school hours. The strength of this program depends upon the support of parents through their children's participation at selected sites in this significant program."

In addition to recreational activities, each site will be scheduled for a program enhancement series which will include visits by the Zoomobile, Craft Safari, Junior Museum Van, and collaborative programs by childrens librarians.

Parents are encouraged to have their children attend the facility most convenient for them.
